

Morocco hosts Bertolucci and Rossellini pics

CASABLANCA, Morocco — Dounia Prods. Ltd., a Casablanca-based production services company, has been assigned to do the casting for Bernardo Bertolucci's next film, scheduled to begin filming here later this year. Titled "The Sheltering Sky," it is based on the novel of the same name by Paul Bowles.

Additionally, the company will handle pre-production and production services for Franco Rosseilini's contemporary love story, "Trulio and Cresida," set to film here.

DPL is headed by former Columbia marketing assistant Dounia Benjelloun and represented in America by Francoise Forget, former marketing executive for Columbia Pictures International in New York.
